NEWT VORCE, THE COWBOY.

Denver Cor. St. Joseph, (Mo.) Gazette.

A typical border desperado is flourishing at Deer Trail, fifty-five miles east of here on the Kansas Pacific Railroad. Deputy Sheriffs from Denver have gone out to capture him, and came back with blanched faces and trembling hearts. The cattlemen of the neighborhood, who suffer daily by his depredations are seriously thinking of taking the law into their own hands, and they are loud in denunciation of the Arapahoe County authorities, who, they say, are afraid to tackle the man. The fellow is an escaped convict named Newt Vorce. He has been in Colorado for ten or twelve years, but no one knows where he came from. For the past four or five years he has worked for the cattlemen around Deer Trail. His last employers were the Mill Iron Cattle Company of this place, who have a large horse ranch some distance from Deer Trail. Newt, who is about 35, and rather a good-looking man, had no particularly bad habits when he first appeared in the country.

He would get drunk once in a while, and had a playful way of shooting at his fellowmen's feet when he wanted to make them dance. Many a cowboy has executed a Highland hornpipe to the music of Newt's revolver. Otherwise he was a nice, pleasant sort of a companion, good-hearted, agreeable and hard working. He got along very well until a grass widow, who owns a house and some horses and sheep within a hundred yards of the Deer Trail Station, won his affections. Then he drank all the more and turned his revolvers loose more freely when he felt himself yearning for a cowhide boot ballet. The woman helped to keep him drunk. He would ride to her twenty-five miles at night and be back to his range by daylight next morning. He became a nuisance and twice the Mill Iron Cattle Company discharged him. Last fall he nearly killed an old cattleman named Gallagher, smashing him over the head with a bottle in George Hodge's saloon. The blow felled Gallagher, when Vorce began jumping upon him and afterward shooting promiscuously around the saloon.

The crowd, of course, broke for the door and got outside. One of the boys, braver than the rest, poked his rifle through the door, pushed it open, and covering Vorce made him throw up his hands. They determined to arrest him. But on leaving the saloon ran among a lot of railroad men and began firing. His pursuers followed and again captured him. He was brought to Denver and tried for an aggravated assault and convicted and sentenced to nine months in the County Jail. He served several months, when he made his escape and returned to Deer Trail, where he has been ever since. He has seven stolen horses staked out, and almost daily breaks open stable locks and kicks in cabin doors and does some stealing. He hides in the ravine near Deer Trail during the day; the grass-widow and her little girl carry him his meals. At night he usually sleeps in the widow,s house. He has been at large for six weeks, and continues to grow bolder the longer his capture is delayed. He has a brace of revolvers and a Winchester and has given out time and again that he will never be taken alive.

The woman watches every train that stops at Deer Trail, and if a stranger gets off she jumps on a horse, rides to town and ascertains if he is an officer of the law, or if he is after Newt. A few weeks ago Captain Burrows and another sheriff's deputy went to Deer Trail and surprised Newt in the widow's house. They covered them with revolvers, but instead of throwing up his hands, as they ordered, he opened fire on them and got away. They came to Denver empty-handed, and no further attempt has been made to capture him. The cowboys sometimes ride over a hill, to be alarmed with a threatening Winchester and the cry, "hands up!" but Newt lowers his weapon when he sees who they are and they pass along and leave him in his sheltereing ravine. Dave J. Cook, the Rocky Mountain detective, asks $500 to effect his capture, and says he will not go after him unless he has a warrant, as he expects to have to kill him.

The saloon in which Newt assaulted Gallagher was recently acquired by George Hodge, an ex-State Representative, under a mortgage foreclosure. Twelve men have been killed in it, and there is not any part of the wall to which a finger may be pointed that does not possess a bullet hole. Murderer Wilson, who shot a Sheriff at Trinidad and was afterwards shot and killed by detectives in a neighboring county, was in the habit of snuffing out the lights with his revolver and making the habitues of the place "hide out," that is, getting out of the range of bullets which he sprinkled through the room in darkness. Popping out the lights and making the customers "hide out" is a favorite amusement of the bad men who drink at Hodge's bar, and the record of their pastimes is presented in the abundance of bullet holes in the wall and ceiling.

Military Dogs.

Among the thousand and one inventions, appliances and wonderful uses of men and beasts which German genius has devised to defeat France in case General Boulanger's successor becomes unpleasant, the dog plays a significant role, employed, as he is, as messenger and sentinel. Experiments have been made for nearly a year now, and have proved highly satisfactory. The dog maneuver of the Hunter battalion was decidedly the most interesting in the recent campaign. Several regiments have been furnished with the German shepard dogs, known for their wisdom the world over. Each one is attached, so to speak, to the person of a soldier, in whom the dog soon recognizes his master, and who conducts his training. While doing duty the dog is kept with the sentinel and easily learns the requirements of his post. A few of the experiments performed before Colonel von der Goltz Pacha, who represented the Sultan at the ninetieth birthday of the Emperor, and has since remained to witness the reviews, were surprising. A soldier taking the dog from the sentinel, marched off on a reconnoitering expedition. After writing his observations and placing them in a cask about the neck of the brute, the latter was told to return to his master, which he did in an astonishing short time. One dog employed in this service arrived at his post ten minutes before a mounted Uhlan charged with the same instructions, though the latter rode at a desperate speed. But even more than this was accomplished. With a message tied about the neck, as in the former case, the dog was told to seek a distant sentinel and bring a return answer. This he did with great speed, carrying the message directly to his master without fail. It is little wonder that Pacha Goltz was surprised at the success of the experiments given in his honor. And they are truly wonderful for the present, though bidding fair to become a commonplace institution in that great machine, the German army. The consequences and possibilities of the shepherd dog service are apparent to all who know anything of military science and make their citation superfluous. One thing is certain, that a future war between Germany and any of its neighbors will not be conducted without its dog regiment, which, though not employed in concerted action, will perform service more valuable than the cats of ancient Egypt.—Correspondence Tribune.

Alfred Krupp.

The news of the death of the chief proprietor of the great Krupp steel works, at Essen, Prussia, has just been cabled to this country. On July 14, at his villa near Essen, Alfred Krupp breathed his last. He has been aptly classed with Bismarck and Moltke as the third of Germany's warriors, as his cannon did such fearful execution in so many battles for the fatherland. Though it was in Alfred's hands that the works attained their great magnitude, he was not their founder. His father, Frederick Krupp, was born in 1787, and was proprietor of a small "hammer forge" driven by water power, and situated near the present Essen. In 1816 he moved to Essen, and on a locality in the center of the present works erected his modest shop. Here he remained to the day of his death, executing a variety of small work in steel. The works were of the smallest scale. The age of steel had not yet come. Four years before he moved to Essen, his eldest son was born. On April 26, 1812, Alfred Krupp first saw the light. On October 26, 1826, his father died.

The works were placed in charge of Alfred, who conducted them for his mother Theresa. For many years his younger brother Hermann worked as a workman in the forge. The growth of the business was very slow, and long before it attained any size, the brother Hermann left it and entered upon another line of work. On February 24, 1848, the firm was given the name of "Friederick Krupp," in honor of the founder of the Essen works.

The growth of the works became rapid as steel was more widely used. In 1851, Krupp was already in the front ranks of the world's steel producers. He sent to London world's fair of that year a great block of steel, the largest that up to that time had ever been produced. Agriculture and engineering appliances received most of Krupp's attention until the manufacture of steel cannon was undertaken by him. In the Paris exposition of 1867 a prize was awarded him for his cannon, that four years later were to be a powerful factor in bringing about the conclusion of the Franco-German war. He was one of the early advocates of steel guns, and at an early period saw that the successful breech-loading cannon was to be the gun of the future. The size of his pieces increased year by year. He maintained a hot rivalry with Sir William Armstrong in the production of the largest and most powerful gun. With the exception of England and the United States, almost all of the principal countries bought cannon at Essen. The more peaceful branches of his business were not neglected, as massive steel forgings of all kinds of axles, crank shafts, locomotive tires, and the like were and are made in vast quantity at Essen. In 1864, at the conclusion of the Danish war, letters of nobility were offered him by the King of Prussia, but he refused them.

The works, and incidentally the town of Essen, had grown with unprecedented rapidity. The economic triumphs of his life, in developing such an establishment, are perhaps the greatest, exceeding in their beneficial aspect his metallurgical exploits. His father's works, it is said, began with two workmen. In 1860, 1,764 hands were in Alfred Krupp's employ. In 1870, 7,084 men were on his rolls. To-day including the works, blast furnaces, and mines, nearly 20,000 workmen, representing with their families, as it is computed, about 66,000 souls, are maintained by the Essen works and dependencies. The establishment is classified by sections: 1, the factory at Essen; 2, three coal mines at Essen and Bochum; 3, five hundred and forty-seven iron mines in Germany; 4, several iron mines in Spain north of Bilbao; 5, the blast furnaces, in 1885 eleven in number; 6, a range for trial of artillery at Meppen; 7, other smaller ranges; 8, four steamers for marine transport; making eight sections into which the business is divided.

The management of the works is in the hands of a syndicate of the owners, who consult with Friederick Alfred, the only son of the late proprietor, as to the more practical details of the work.

The town of Essen now numbers nearly one hundred thousand inhabitants. Outside of the city limits a great portion of the employes have homes, lodgings to the number of four thousand being owned by the firm.

Renews Her Youth.

Mrs. Phœbe Chesly, Patterson, Clay Co., Iowa, tells the following remarkable story, the truth of which is vouched for by the residents of the town: "I am 73 years old, have been troubled with kidney complaint and lameness for many years; could not dress myself without help. Now I am free from all pain and soreness, and am able to do all my own housework. I owe my thanks to Electric Bitters for having renewed my youth, and removed completely all disease and pain." A Man Killed by a Swordfish.

Scientific American.

In the last "Bulletin" of the U. S. Fish Commission received at this office, W. A. Wilcox, in a letter, to Prof. Baird, relates a curious accident that befell Captain Langsford, as follows:

The schooner Venus is a small vessel of about 12 tons, owned and commanded by Franklin D. Langsford of Lanesville, Mass., with a crew of three men, engaged in the general fisheries off the coast of Massachusetts. On Monday morning, August 9, 1886, Captain Langsford sailed from home in pursuit of swordfish. About 11 A. M., when 8 miles northeast from Halibut Point, in Ipswich Bay, a fish was seen. The captain, with one man, taking a dory, gave chase, and soon harpooned the fish, throwing over a buoy with a line attached to the harpoon, after which the fish was left and they returned to the vessel for dinner. About an hour later the captain, with one man, again took his dory and went out to secure the fish. Picking up the buoy, Captain Langsford took hold of the line, pulling his boat toward the swordfish, which was quite large and not badly wounded. The line was taut as the boat slowly neared the fish, which the captain intended to lance and thus kill it. When near the fish, but too far away to reach it with the lance, it quickly turned and rushed at and under the boat, thrusting its sword up through the bottom of the boat, 23 inches. As the fish turned and rushed toward the boat the line suddenly slacked, causing the captain to fall over on his back, and while he was in the act of rising the sword came piercing through the boat and into his body. At this time another swordfish was in sight near by, and the captain excited and anxious to secure both, raised himself up, not knowing he was wounded. Seeing the sword, he seized it, exclaiming, "We've got him, any way!" He lay in the bottom of the dory, holding fast to the sword, until his vessel came alongside, while the fish, being under the boat, could not be reached. Soon the captain said, "I think I am hurt, and quite badly." When the vessel arrived he went on board, took a few steps, and fell, never rising again. The boat and fish were soon hoisted on board, when the sword was chopped off to free the boat, and the fish was killed on the deck of the vessel. The fish weighed 245 pounds after its head and tail were cut off and the viscera removed. When alive it weighed something over 300 pounds. Captain Langsford survied the injury about three days, dying on Thuasday, August 12, of peritonitis. The certificate of Dr. Garland, written on the 16th of August, is appended, giving some further particulars, and the sword has been deposited in the U. S. National Museum.

The Chicago "News" professes to find a local report of a recent a ball in the Montana "Screecher," from which it extracts the following: Miss Sally McShirin was rigged out as pretty as a red and green wagon with two springs seats, and made more mashes than a few. She had on a blue dress with a red flap at the side and a puffy something or other on the other side. Miss Sue Sharp wore an en train rig and could have knocked Mrs. Langtry silly when it came to good looks. Her hair was en curl and her face en powder. She had sixteen rings on one finger and bracelets clean up to her elbow. Little Birdie Bloom was "the daintiest darling of them all," in white toggery of some sort looped up in spots. She wore hand-painted gloves and slippers and passymentry jewelery. Miss Dorrity reminded one of a double rainbow, and was the belle of the occasion. It's a cold day when Lizzie Ann Dorrity gets left at a ball, and she was at best last night.

OUR EXHIBIT.

As the time draws near for the opening of the Mechanics' Fair in San Francisco in September, interest in the Sonoma Valley Exhibit, which will be a feature of the same, continues to increase. As only one month intervenes in which to complete our exhibit, this activity ought to be redoubled and every exertion made by the committee, the farmers and the public in general to the end that no stone shall be left unturned to make the exposition worthy of the section it represents. A successful exhibit of the products of this favored section will be everything for Sonoma Valley. It will show to the thousands of visitors to the Mechanics' Fair the great diversity of her products and the fertility of her soil, which will produce almost everything under the sun without irrigation. It is a great pity that our climate and scenery cannot be put on exhibition also, but these can come in for an after consideration. To a certain extent the products of vineyard, orchard and farm will speak in a measure for the former, but both have to be seen and tried to demonstrate the salubrity of our climate and the picturesqueness of our scenery. Make the exhibition a success and many people will be attracted hither in search of homes. These can then see for themselves the blessings which the the residents of Sonoma Valley enjoy in the way of climate, prolific orchards and vineyards and happy, peaceful and contented homes.

WE are pleased to note that the differences between the Santa Rosa and Carquinez Railroad Company and a number of farmers in Sonoma Valley regarding the right of way bid fair to be amicably adjusted. This is as it should be. There can be no doubt that this road, unlike its predecessor, the Santa Rosa and Benicia, is a bona fide concern and if it means business it should not be hindered or obstructed.

The railroad question as it affects Sonoma Valley is both aggravating and perplexing, and just what will be the final outcome of the surveys made by the rival companies can only be conjectured. All, however, unite on the common proposition that better railroad facilities are needed and favor the road that will provide them.

SAN FRANCISCO will have two hanging matinees next month if the sentence of Judge Wilson is carried out. John Kernaghan, who beat his sister-in-law's brains out with a hammer, will attempt to walk a perpendicular tight rope on his left ear on the afternoon of September 23d, and on the 30th Lee Sare Bo, the Chinese murderer and highbinder, will repeat the performance.

HENRY KOHLER has been convicted in the Police Court of San Francisco for selling California Wine without affixing the Pure Wine label. Kohler has carried the matter up to the Supreme Court, which tribunal will no boubt render its decision at an early day.

THE Santa Rosa Daily Republican comes to us this week enlarged and otherwise improved. We are pleased to note this sign of prosperity on the part of our cotemporary and wish it continued success.

THE great corner in wheat is bursted. Tuesday wheat was quoted at $2.20, but on Wednesday it tumbled to $1.60, much to the relief of the laboring classes.

THE Santa Rosa sawciety girl don't spell it "May." That ain't tony enough. "Mae" is just lovely and looks perfectly chawming in print, ye know.

THE TREASURY SURPLUS.

A well-known banking firm of New York has sent out a circular letter which shows that there is locked up in the United States Treasury vaults the enormous sum of nearly $340,000,000. This it is asserted is being increased at the rate of over $10,000,000 per month. The circular says:

"The situation is startling. If allowed to continue every interest will feel it. Every foot of land will become of less value, every bushel of wheat, every bushel of corn, every pound of cotton will decline in value. On the other hand, if the administration goes to work under the powers given it by existing laws, and earnestly tries to frame new laws for the consideration of the incoming Congress, we shall see such an era of prosperity as was never before witnessed in this land. The fact is, that, with the exception of some twenty millions deposited by the Treasury with National Banks, there is now "locked up," out of use and drawing no interest, in the United States Treasury, the vast sum of nearly $340,000,000.

"One hundred millions of this vast sum the Treasury is obliged to keep under the laws as a reserve against United States notes. Upwards of another hundred millions of this vast sum is retained to redeem the notes of National Banks failed or retiring circulation. There is no law requiring the Treasury to keep this sum locked up. It is only required to redeem the notes as presented. It will be years before these National Bank notes will all come in, and it is more than likely that 3 to 5 per cent. will never be presented. Should this money lie idle all these years? If it must then there is some defect in the National Banking Law which ought to be corrected. Why Congress should have put it in the power of the National Banks to use the Treasury in this way is a serious question. Of the balance of this vast sum there is retained to meet past due bonds, Disbursing Officer's drafts, P. O. Department accounts and divers appropriations, nearly seventy million dollars, just as if the Treasury was not receiving from the people every month upwards of twenty-five million of dollars to meet all these things. For all the above the Treasury Department may set up a valid excuse; but, if so, the next Congress should see that something is done to utilize as large a part of this $270,000,000 as is consistent and safe. Still remaining is $70,000,000 for which lock up there is no reason or law except the ruling or wishes of the Treasury Department. It is well for the people to know how the Treasury stands. The following figures are from the official statement issued by Secretary Fairchild, June 30, 1887, and shows the amount in the Treasury on that date:

Gold Coin and Bullion,	$278,101,106.26
Silver-Standard Dollars, Bullion, Trade Dollars, and Fractional Silver,	249,495,597.66
United States Notes,	28,783,796.79
National Bank Notes,	197,046.00
Deposited in National Banks,	22,991,302.33
	$579,568,849.04

On same date the Treasury had outstanding:

Gold Certificates,	$ 91,225,437.00
Silver Certificates,	142,118,017.00
U. S. Notes Certificates,	8,770,000.00
	$242,113,454.00

Thus leaving, with the exception of the little part in the National Banks, "locked up" in the Treasury, $337,455,395.04.

With an outstanding debt of over one thousand millions, on which the people are taxed $44,638,466 yearly for interest payments, we would submit the simple question: Is it just to the people to keep, year in and year out, $337,000,000 locked up in the Treasury, drawing no interest and doing no good."

In the death of Dr. A. B. Stuart, which occurred at his home in this city late Saturday night, the community has sustained a loss which cannot be measured in words. He had suffered considerable from ill health of late, which resulted in his being prostrated with an attack of paralysis several weeks ago, from which illness he was just convalescing when stricken with the same disease Saturday morning. He lingered between life and death during the day, the advantage at one time seeming to be with the former, but it proved only a flickering of the vital spark before its extinction. He died surrounded by his heart-stricken family and relatives, whose grief finds an echo in the hearts of all knew him. He was a native of Pennsylvania, aged 57 years.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, July 25, 1887.

The records of the past week show a little more than the usual amount of public business transacted in spite of the intense heat. The President remains entirely at Oak View, and will continue to do so as the present warm weather continues. But his Secretary, Col. Lamont, is daily at the White House, and all matters of importance are brought before executive notice through his agency. Numerous invitations have been received inviting the President and his wife to visit the West, and especially the Northwestern cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis. A telegram has been sent by the Mayor of St. Louis, asking if the President would receive a delegation who come to invite him to visit St. Louis, after the encampment of the Grand Army men. The President replied that he would be in Washington on Monday, but he has so far signified no intention of accepting any of the invitations extended to him.

Secretary Lamar is at present the only Member of the Cabinet out of town and he has gone to Georgia to attend the wedding of his daughter, Miss Jennie, to her cousin, Mr. Lamar, a young lawyer practicing in Washington.

The Secretaries of State, War and Navy held a conference on Saturday and have at last named a successor to the late Engineer, Harry Lee Snyder, who was Superintendent of the State, War and Navy Department. It may be remembered that Engineer Snyder died suddenly a few weeks ago. Chief Engineer Thos. Williamson, U. S. N., has been nominated to fill the place and a commission made out and sent to Oak View for the President's signature. Engineer Williamson was formerly attached to the Pacific Squadron and is now at his home at Warrenton, Va., on waiting orders. It is said that his appointment is as great a surprise to him, for he was not an applicant for the position, as it is a disappointment to several engineers who were trying for the place.

The navy yard at Washington has been transferred to the control of the ordnance bureau and the yard turned into a gun foundry. This change has met with much complaint and some ridicule, but the work progresses favorably notwithstanding. Besides the regular machine shops for the manufacture of naval ordnance, a class has been organized to train seamen and is now being instructed in the manipulation and care of guns, carriages, ammunition and all the paraphernalia of gunning. After the course is completed here, the seamen are sent to Newport, R. I., for six months instruction at the torpedo station. On acquiring the required percentage they receive the pay of seamen gunners and are also eligible to the position of warrant officers. With the completion of the new cruisers well equipped and manned by trained seamen our Navy will no longer be a reproach to us, nor justify the old minstrel joke about having "plenty of water" and only wanting a "few ships to make it the grandest Navy in the world, sir."

The count of cash in the Treasury vaults, begun on the 23d of May, was finished on the 23d of July. This count was rendered necessary by the change of U. S. Treasurer M. Hyatt of Connecticut, having succeeded Mr. Jordan, who resigned to accept the position of Vice President of the new National Bank established in New York City of which ex-Secretary Manning is President. The count developed but one error, a shortage of $2.50, promptly made good by the clerk, to whom through carelessness in the former count the error was due. The amount on hand in National Bank notes and legal tender notes was disposed of in about three days, but the silver dollars occupied a large force ef men two month in the counting.

The present Postmaster of Charleston, S. C, Mr. Mowry, at the time of his appointment, was Clerk to the Committee of the House of Representatives. He now claims the salary as clerk of the Committee up to June 30th, in addition to that of Postmaster.

First Controller Durham rejects the claim on the ground that no one is entitled to draw two salaries from the Government. The objections of the Controller appear fair, but it seems that the Supreme Court has decided differently in another and similar case, that of Mr. Saunders, now clerk at the Executive Mansion, who was at the time of his appointment clerk to a Congressional Committee. At any rate the Controller proposes to test the case again and Postmaster Mowry will carry his case to the Courts. He may have the law on his side, but he certainly is very avaricious to want two offices at the same time, especially when there are so many would-be office holders outside in the cold who would rejoice in the possession of one. Ordinarily the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States are final and establish the law of precedence in all like cases, but there is no telling what the head of a bureau under the Government will not dare do. Especially if he be a new appointment.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

MONDAY, August 1st.

The Board of Supervisors met in regular monthly session at the Court House this date at 10.30 A. M. All members present, J. O'Hara presiding. The minutes of the last session were read and approved.

In the matter of the petition for a private road in the Sonoma road district, by Amanda Culver, it appearing to the Board that H. Appleton, one of the reviewers appointed to view and lay out said road, was not a disinterested party, Mr. Coulter moved that O. W. Craig be appointed in his place.

The Board then adjourned.

WEDNESDAY, August 3d.

The Board re-convened this date, pursuant to adjournment, at the call of the Chair at 1:30 P. M. All members present, Chairman O'Hara presiding.

County Physician R. P. Smith addressed a few remarks to the Board concerning the difficulty which was caused by non-resident indigents applying for admission at the County Hospital. He wished the Board to establish some rule whereby he could be governed. He suggested that an order be passed making it necessary for an applicant to furnish substantial proof of his being a resident of the county. The suggestion was discussed at some length, and resulted in its being decided that the rule adopted by the doctor could not be improved upon.

The petition from Pomona Grange for an appropriation from the county to assist in making an exhibit of Sonoma County's products at the various fairs having been made the special order for this hour, the Clerk read the same. The petitioners based their prayer upon the provision made by the Legislature at the session of 1886-7, for an appropriation of $1000 by the various counties of the State to enable them to advertise their various productive resources and inducing immigration thereto, as laid down in page 185 of the Amended Code of 1887. The petition asked for a reasonable appropriation to the person or society that shall make the best display at all the fairs held in this county during 1887, at the State Fair and the Fair of the Mechanics' Institute. The petition further authorized Supervisor Coulter, who is also a member of the Grange, to represent the matter on behalfof the Grange.

Mr. Coulter moved that the sum of $200 be appropriated for the purpose as set forth in the petition, and apportioned to the various exhibits as follows: $100 to the person or society making the best exhibit at the State Fair; at the two Sonoma county fairs, $25 each; at the Mechanics' Institute, $50.

Mr. Allen raised an objection on a technicality. The petition and the motion, he thought, were not sufficiently in conformity with the law upon which they are based. He did not object to such an appropriation being made, on the contrary, he was in favor of increasing the amount, but did not wish to have the Board lay itself liable to censure by acting without the purview of the law. He offered an amendment that the appropriation be made $300 instead of $200, and that it be made to the Ponoma Grange individually, to be used according to the best judgement of the committee having the exhibit in charge.

The amendment was lost and the original motion was carried by a vote of three to one.

Mr. Coulter moved that the vote be reconsidered, and, the motion being carried, Mr. Connelly moved that the appropriation be increased to $300. Carried.

The Clerk then read the petition from the Sonoma County Immigration Association for an appropriation of $1,000 to be used by the petitioner in the most advantageous manner possible in advertising Sonoma county throughout the east, the south and Europe. The petition was based on the same law as that of the proceeding petition.

Mr. Allen immediately took the floor and denounced the petition as being purely local in its origin and purposes, and he had been warned by his constituents before coming to the session not to countenance such a petition. The names attached to it —Messrs. Spencer, De Turk, Tupper, Byington, Overton, Grosse—he thought were sufficient to bear him out in his assertion. The Board of Trade of Santa Rosa, he believed, had check enough to appropriate to its own uses all the monies in the funds of the county.

Mr. Connolly moved that the sum of $300 be appropriated to the association, stating in support of his motion that the organization was working in the interest of the county at large and not for the Santa Rosa Board of Trade, as insinuated by Mr. Allen, and should be shown the same courtesy which the Board had accorded Ponoma Grange. The association was endeavoring to induce immigration into this county, but to no one point in particular. He did not believe an exception should be made.

Mr. Coulter concurred in Mr. Allen's views. While he admitted that the association was a laudable enterprise, he believed that much more good would be accomplished by the grange in the same interest than by the association, and he did not think the people of the county would care to have any more of their money expended for the same purpose. The roll was called and the vote stood as follows: Noes, Allen, Coulter, Davis; ayes, Connolly, O'Hara.

At 5 P. M. the Board adjourned until 9 A. M. Thursday.

An interesting case was tried in Justice Small's Court last Saturday. It was entitled Muser vs. Mr. C. W. Engelbert and Mrs. C. W. Engelbert. The suit was brought to recover $65.18 for goods sold and delivered to Mrs. Engelbert before her marriage. John S. Enos appeared for plaintiff and Joseph Rothschild of San Francisco for defendants. For eight hours the opposing attorneys argued their cases, glared at each other and badgered the Judge by turns. At last his Honor, with a sigh of relief as big as Sonoma Mountain, adjourned the court with the announcement that he would reserve his decision until the following Tuesday. The case against Mr. Engelbert having been dismissed on Saturday judgment was rendered on that day in favor of plaintiff against Mrs. Engelbert for the full amount sued for with interest and costs of suit.

A Famous Wine Press.

While visiting Mr. Chas. Krug's cellar at St. Helena, one day last week, Messrs. G. P. Sears and Robt. Poppe were shown the wine press used by Col. Haraszthy at the Buena Vista Vineyard near this place in 1858. This press after doing service in Sonoma county that year was loaned by Col. Haraszthy to Mr. Krug, who pressed the entire season's grape crop of Napa county with it, so that the vintage of Sonoma and Napa counties for the year 1858 passed through that one little press. Mr. Poppe, with his usual appreciation of a good thing when he sees it, endeavored to secure this famous press for the Sonoma Valley Exhibit at the forthcoming Mechanics' Fair, but was informed that it had been secured for the Napa county exhibit.

Court Notes.

In the divorce case of Ellen Bazoni vs. Louis Bazoni plaintiff has been allowed by Judge Pressley $50 per month for support from July 1st, $100 counsel fees and an additional $50 for expenses.

The civil suit of Louisa Beets vs. J. Dresel has been set for trial September 6th in Department Two of the Superior Court.

Judge Pressley has granted plaintiff an injunctien in the case of Johnson vs. Burnham. This is the suit brought by Mr. Robt. Johnson against Mr. Edward Burnham for trespassing on the lands of the Buena Vista Ranch. Defendant some time since constructed a new road in the mountains to the eastward of Buena Vista over the lands of plaintiff to take the place of an old one running out to the valley. The injunction was brought to close the road and to restrain defendant from using the same.

A Moonlight Ride.

Wednesday evening last a party of young ladies and gentlemen stated from town in a large wagon for Glen Ellen to enjoy a ride in the bright moonlight. On reaching Glen Ellen, refreshments were partaken of, after which all started homeward, where they arrived a little after midnight, having enjoyed a beautiful ride.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

A Quarryman Crushed to Death by a Bank of Earth and Rock Caving Upon Him.

Tom Ebberts, familiarly known as "Way-Up Tom," a quarryman employed in Schocken's basalt quarries north of town, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, by a mass of rock and earth falling upon and crushing him. In an effort to escape he tripped and fell, and before he could arise he was caught huge boulder which rolled completely over the unfortunate man, mangling him frightfully.

Meeting of City Trustees.

The regular monthly meeting of the Trustees of Sonoma was held last Wednesday evening at their rooms in the City Pavilion. Present—Trustees McHarvey, Manuel and Wegner. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

The report of the Cemetery Committee was received and placed on file. It shows that the sum of $337 has been expended within the past year in improving the cemetery.

A communication was received from Robt. Poppe, Secretary of the Fourth of July Committee, stating that there was a balance of $6.83 over and above all expenses of celebration and stating that the same had been donated to the Plaza Fund by the General Fourth of July Committee.

A communication was also received from the Cemetery committee recommending that the northern portion of the cemetery be sold at public auction to raise funds for improving the cemetery. The communication was laid over until next meeting.

The following bills were presented and ordered paid: U. P. Vallejo, $24.00; Jas. McDonnell Jr., $9.30; B. Pedroncinel, $28.00; A. Fouts, $3.50; T. F. Monahan, $8; Harvey S. Manuel, $16.00.

It was moved by Trustee Manuel, seconded by Trustee Wegner, that the sum of $50 be appropriated for finishing repairs to ditch on First street West.

The City Clerk was instructed to have a notice published in the Sonoma INDEX-TRIBUNE of the meeting of the City Board of Equalization.

Trustee Wegner gave notice that at the next meeting he would move to amend Ordinance No. 15, relating to duties of the Pound Master.

The Marshal was instructed to notify the owners of geese and other fowl to keep them off the streets and Plaza.

The Board then adjourned.

Capt. Fred Walker at one haul caught 105 silver smelt at Whitney's warehouse last Monday in a dip net only three feet in diameter.

Prof. Carl Hinrichs was taken with an epileptic fit last Monday, and has been unconscious almost constantly since. His recovery is doubtful.

Sylvester Robinson caught a one-pound shad in Petaluma creek last Monday morning with his hands. The fish had got into water too shallow for swimming purposes.

The estate of C. J. Hutchins has been appraised at $9,135 75. It consists of shares in Petaluma, First National and Sonoma banks, North Shore and Eagle Packing Companies and Schmidt Label and Lithographing Company, furniture, etc.

The last few days Petaluma creek has been filled with numerous schools of silver smelt. Even right in town, where they were never known to be before, they were plentiful. The boys caught hundreds with hooks and lines at the foot of Western avenue. The fish seemed to be full of spawn.

The proprietors of the Petaluma Cannery want 150 extra hands. Tons and tons of ripe fruit are coming in daily and unless the people come to their assistance, much of it must go to waste. The people of Petaluma owe a big debt of gratitude to the cannery folks and should repay part of that debt right now. Even if your children are attending school, take them out for a few days until the rush is over. Two weeks will probably be sufficient.

In Brief, and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestion apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle, Seventy-five cents.

AYER'S Sugar-Coated Cathartic PILLS.

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them, with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism and Dyspepsia.—G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with Indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured.—Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored.—Theodore Esling, Richmond, Va. ††

The Task of Whipping Our Neighbor Republic a Much More Difficulty One Than People Appear to Suppose—How Her Army Is Organized.

Should the United States be compelled to whip Mexico into compliance with her international obligations, we would find the task a much more difficult one than people appear to suppose. Some of our military men and others who may be looked upon as leaders of public opinion scorn the idea that the sister republic could offer any considerable resistance to an American armed force, and in support of their opinions they are fond of repeating the fact that Gen. Scott captured the City of Mexico with a field force of about 8,000 men. People who think that such an undertaking could be successfully attempted now are quite astray in their calculations. When the American army occupied Mexico it had only to deal with the thoroughly unpopular, corrupt, and tyrannical Dictator General Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna. So very much disgusted were the Mexicans with the ruinous rule of this despot that the majority of them looked upon the invading Americans rather in the light of friends and deliverers from bondage than of national enemies. This condition is now changed altogether. Mexico has fought her way to a federal constitution. She defeated the French invading army of about 48 000 men. She speedily put down the monarchial conspiracy to establish an empire within her borders, and has succeeded wonderfully during the last ten or fifteen years in consolidating her political institutions and in organizing a most efficient, well-equipped army.

Mexico contains at the present time a population of over 11,000,000. It is true that seven-tenths of this population are composed of docile Indians or half-breeds, but it must not be forgotten that this same class of people furnishes most excellent fighting material. They can live on the smell of an oil rag, march almost incredible distances, suffer all sorts of hardships uncomplainingly, and are, as a general rule, fearless of death. If Mexico could apply to her people the same principles of military organization that are applied in Germany, France, and other European nations, she could place in line an army of not less than 450,000 fighting men. The financial resources of the country would not, however, admit of the calling to arms of more than one-half of this number of men at one time. Thus, while the resisting power of Mexico might be set down at about 500,000 men, to be employed successively, as occasion might require, she could hardly by her greatest effort place in campaign at any one period over 250,000 soldiers. During the wars with France and with Maximilian the government of Juarez had under arms 97,000 poorly-equipped troops; but this was at a period when the old Church party had at least 35,000 Mexican men under arms in the service of France and of the Archduke Maximilian. This shows that even in those times when scarcity of arms, and not a lack of men, afforded an inadequate measure of Mexico's fighting power, she had at one time under one or the other of the contending parties an aggregate of 132,000 men.

The army of Mexico is organized in a method analogous to that of France. It is in four divisions, each under the command of a general of division, a rank that corresponds to that of major general in the American service, the highest grade that can be attained in the Mexican army. Some of the best known generals of division are Porfirio Diaz, president of the republic; Mariano Escobedo, the conqueror of Maximilian; Ramon Corona, Felipe B. Berriozabal, Sostenes Rocha, Pedro Hinojosa, the minister of war; Manuel Gonzalez, ex-president; Geronimo Trevino, Jose Justo Alvarez, Ignacio Ant illon, and a dozen of others, more or less. Some of these general officers, such as Sostenes Rocha, Jose Justo Alvarez and Ignacio Antillon, are graduates of the Chapultepec National Military academy, while the others attained their rank through long-continued and distinguished services. Escobedo now is on the retired list, and Corona Gonzales are not on very cordial terms with the present government. Porfirio Diaz is by far the most brilliant and successful commander that his country can boast of. He is a revolutionist by profession and predilection, and somewhat of a tyrant by nature. Some of his operations in and around the City of Puebla during the last days of Maximilian's reign were of such a character, although on a smaller scale, as to entitle them to be compared with those of Bonaparte's first Italian campaign.—New York Herald.

The Journalism of To-Day.

I remember many years ago when I was city editor of The New York Times and lived in Brooklyn, my mother wrote me from the country, where she was spending a few months, that a stranger who judged of Brooklyn by what appeared under the head of Brooklyn news, would imagine there was nothing in the City of Churches except a city hall, a few criminal courts, police stations and a morgue. In other words, crime has the call.

No city in the world surpasses New York in intelligence, in love of all that is good and pure and noble and decent and humane, but with the exception of a few idiotic reports of sermons, with now and then a record of some English lecturer or Irish orator, all the upper realm is left untouched. Our reporters are instructed to scent the carrion. They never bring the rose with its perfume, or the lily with its grace, the pansy with its drooping beauty before the public attention but the dead dogs of agitation and the swollen carcasses of crime and the offal of dirt and squalor, these are thrust before the disgusted eyes and under the offended nostrils of an amazed and outraged people.—Joe Howard's Letter.

A New Use for Gunpowder.

An Eastport, Me., engineer has been in the habit of using a novel contrivance to loose keys and wedges on large pieces of machinery in steamboats when the space around the machinery was too contracted to work with ease. He made a small mortar, carrying an elongated bolt, which struck the key head without entirely leaving the gun, which was perforated at the sides, well forward, with holes through which, after the bolt had passed, the charged escaped. The force required was regulated by the quantity of powder used. The apparatus proved highly successful and recently, in taking out and putting in the New Brunswick's shaft, it was loaded and discharged about 100 times. By its aid several days were saved in doing the work on that steamer.—Boston Journal.

A Fascinating Spectacle.

A Russian journal says that at Baku, on the Caspian sea, the home of petroleum, it is quite common for pleasure parties to "set fire to the sea." Whenever there is an unusual accumulation of naphtha at the bottom of the sea the surface becomes agitated in a peculiar way, and if the gases hovering over it are ignited, the fire often spreads over a large area until a strong gust of wind puts an end to the fascinating spectacle.—New York Post.

A Terrible Surgical Operation

A FATAL MISTAKE.

THE Cleveland (Ohio) Press, of February 23d, 1883, published an account of a fatal surgical operation which caused a great commotion among medical men throughout the whole country, Dr. Thayer, the most eminent surgeon in Cleveland, pronouncing it scandalous. It appears that a Mrs. King had been suffering for many years from some disease of the stomach, which had resisted the treatment of all the physicians in attendance. The disease commenced with a slight derangement of the digestion, with a poor appetite, followed by a peculiar indescribable distress in the stomach, a feeling that has been described as a faint "all gone" sensation, a sticky slime collecting about the teeth, causing a disagreeable taste. This sensation was not removed by food, but, on the contrary, it was increased. After a while the hands and feet became cold and sticky—a cold perspiration. There was a constant tired and lanquid feeling. Then followed a dreadful nervousness, with gloomy forebodings. Finally the patient was unable to retain any food whatever, and there was constant pain in the abdomen. All prescribed remedies failing to give relief, a consultation was held, when it was decided that the patient had a cancer in the stomach, and in order to save the patient's life an operation was justifiable. Accordingly, on the 22d of February, 1883, the operation was performed by Dr. Vance in the presence of Dr. Tuckerman, Dr. Perrier, Dr. Arms, Dr. Gordon, Dr. Capner, and Dr. Halliwell of the Police Board. The operation consisted in laying open the cavity of the abdomen and exposing the stomach and bowels. When this had been done an examination of the organs was made, but to the horror and dismay of the doctors there was no cancer to be found. The patient did not have a cancer. When too late the medical men discovered that they had made a terrible mistake; but they sewed the parts together and dressed the wound that they had made, but the poor woman sank from exhaustion and died in a few hours. How sad it must be for the husband of this poor woman to know that his wife died from the effects of a surgical operation that ought never to have been performed. If this woman had taken the proper remedy for Dyspepsia and Nervous Prostration (for this was what the disease really was), she would have been living to-day. SHAKER EXTRACT OF ROOTS, or SEIGEL'S CURATIVE SYRUP, a remedy made expressly for Dyspepsia or Indigestion, has restored many such cases to perfect health after all other kinds of treatment have failed. The evidence of its efficacy in curing this class of cases is too voluminous to be published here; but those who read the published evidence in favor of this dyspeptic remedy do not question its convincing nature, and the article has an extensive sale.

S.S.S.

The Theatrical Profession.

Merit will win and receive public recognition and praise. Facts, which are the outcome of general experience, growing through years of critical and practical test, become as rooted and immovable as the rock of Gibraltar in public opinion, and henceforth need no further guarantee as to their genuineness. The indisputable fact that Swift's Specific is the best blood purifier in the world, is one of these immovable Gibraltar rock facts of which we have spoken, and every day's experience roots this conviction deeper and deeper in public opinion. Every class of our people in America and in Europe, every trade, calling and profession, including the medical profession, have borne voluntary testimony to the remarkable virtues of S. S. S. and its infallible efficacy in curing all diseases of the blood. These testimonials are on file by the thousands, and open to the inspection of all. Now come, unsolicited, two distinguished members of the theatrical profession, who gratefully testify to the wonderful curative qualities of the Specific in their individual cases. Their testimonials are herewith submitted to the public without further comment—let them speak for themselves. The lady is a member of the famous Thalia Theatre Company, of New York, and formerly of the Residence Theatre, Berlin, Germany, and of McVicker's Stock Company, of Chicago. The gentleman is a well known member of the New York Thalia Theatre Company. Both are well known in theatrical circles in this country and in Europe.

Charlotte Randow's Testimony.

NEW YORK, May 3, 1887.

Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.:

Gentlemen—Having been annoyed with pimples, eruptions and roughness of the skin, from bad condition of my blood, for more than a year, I used a leading preparation of sarsaparilla and other advertised remedies to no effect. Then I consulted a prominent physician, and from his treatment received no benefit. I then concluded to try the S. S. S. remedy for the blood, and five or six packages, by a thorough eradication of my trouble and restoring smoothness to my skin, have made me happy, and I cheerfully give you this testimonial for such use and publicity as you wish to make of it.

CHARLOTTE RANDOW,
152 Bowery, near Canal Street.

Hugo Hasskerl's Testimony.

The Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.:

Gentlemen—For two years I had a severe case of eczema. I used tar soaps, sulphur soaps, and various other remedies, and was prescribed for by numbers of physicians, but found no relief. At last I determined to try the S. S. S. remedy, and seven or eight bottles have thoroughly relieved me, and you can use this certificate in any manner you wish.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

GOOD TIDINGS.

"DR. SMITH:—Your truly wonderful Caloric Vita Oil has performed for me the most remarkable and speedy cure of rheumatism on record. I do not hesitate to recommend it as the greatest pain reliever in existence.

"J. B. GILLUM.

"No. 534 Fifteenth street, Oakland, Cal."

"It cured my neuralgia in a few hours, when I had suffered night after night with it and tried everything. "A LOCAL PREACHER.

"San Francisco, Cal."

WON'T BLISTER.—Caloric Vita Oil takes the place of all pain killing lotions or liniments, poultices or blisters, and while its penetrating, healing, healing and vital action is tenfold more powerful than either, it will not chafe or blister.

Dr. J. Winchester, Columbia, Cal., says: "I have used Vita Oil with the most beneficial results; can endorse without hesitation your claim. As a family remedy for the relief of pain it has no equal in the world. In our household it has become indispensable."

"With a thankful heart I acknowledge the great merit of Dr. Smith's Caloric Vita Oil. I had suffered over 30 years with bronchitis and was seriously threatened with lung disease. I had tried all remedies and all climates with occasional temporary relief, but no cure. The use of two small bottles made me a sound man. "A BANK OFFICER."

A prominent druggist in San Francisco:—"We hazard nothing in saying it is the best pain cure and healing remedy ever used or known. It acts quickly, promptly and certainly in relieving pain. Hundreds of sufferers have been relieved by it, to the wonder of thousands of their friends. Its sales have doubled nearly every month."

"It will do the heaviest work of any medicine I ever handled, and quick, too."
